Finance-MBA Program Assessment Closing the Loop for 2017 & 2018

- Overall summary

Over the past two years, the results have shown a clear improvement in some learning goals as well as some dis-improvements. In detail, our students have shown good performance at ethically and socially conscious reasoning (L4) while some of our student suffer a lack of communication skills (L1) and analytical thinking (L2). Still, almost of our students meet expectations (point 2) for all learning goals overall. FMBA is a process to help students acquire the concepts and skills needed to deal with various financial problems that will face the future. Helping students understand through tutorial sessions, quizzes, or watching videos can also be a way for better instruction. Moreover, more teamwork activations are encouraged in classes.
